

IRNIC – Registration Office for Country Domains .ir and ایران

IRNIC Handle Terms and Conditions

1. Since the registration of the domain name and modifications thereto is done through identification items which are incorporated in the handle form, the applicant of a handle, hereby declares that all the information incorporated in the handle form is in accordance with his/her id card. The Center will not oblige to respond to the request of persons whose id handle information is in conflict with their ID card information and the Center has no responsibility towards these requests.
2. The postal address submitted by the applicant must be accurate and in accordance with a real one. If necessary, any correspondence to the domain name holder is done through the same address as he / she has shown in his /her handle form. The consequences incurred by presenting an inaccurate address, including not being informed by domain name holder of the Center or third parties' action will be directed on themselves.
3. Name, family name, organization name, E-mail address and the postal address of the holder of a handle are not confidential and will be accessible to the public according to "WHOIS POLICY". This information may, depending on the privacy adjustment for the handle, be observed by other IRNIC operators.
 - Where the handle is not a domain name holder or administrative contact, the postal address of the handle will not be shown on "WHOIS" system and will not be observed by the public.
 - If the handle has a (.id.ir) domain, it in turn has the possibility to request from IRNIC by writing to the effect that about this domain name only the information about name, family name and E-mail address of the domain name holder and the information related to the sale agent are shown on the WHOIS system.